

Global Mobility Management – at home worldwide

Our passion for global experience is ongoing: useful when you decide to move on.

Auris Relocation excels in counselling on all aspects of global mobility, developing and implementing clear guidelines for departures from Switzerland to other countries. Auris can be relied on to anticipate, manage and follow up on all aspects of global mobility.

We are constantly expanding our network of key partners abroad to enhance the Auris Relocation customer experience. Clients appreciate having Auris as the accessible and unique point of contact for global mobility projects.

The people who benefit from our global mobility service are top management, human resources and talent management departments with small and large corporations in Switzerland. Auris Relocation provides a network of essential contacts and valuable experience.

Auris Relocation scrupulously monitors compliance with legal and administrative requirements in all phases of an outgoing relocation. Given our first-hand knowledge of these processes, we advise on what to do, when and how. The administrative and legal aspects of posting employees abroad are managed by Auris, allowing Swiss entities to concentrate on their core business.

Policy consulting on personnel relocation

As soon as a company decides to relocate personnel, Auris Relocation becomes a valuable source of advice. Strategic thinking on the impact of various policy scenarios is of immense benefit to employers. We liaise with our reliable network in the outgoing country to establish guidelines that ensure realistic policies, corporate compliance and smooth transitions.

Relocation management, assistance with postings abroad

Once the guidelines have been established, Auris Relocation coordinates seamless destination services as carried out by our partners abroad, remaining the much-appreciated unique point of contact. We continuously monitor quality and provide regular feedback on work done abroad. We ensure global compliance with corporate policies throughout and without exception.

Property management for absent employees

When employees relocate abroad and vacate a Swiss property that they either rent or own, managing that property becomes a genuine concern. We pride ourselves on finding the best solution for any situation. Auris Relocation thus takes the burden off human resource departments while providing a valuable service to the transferee.

Cross-cultural and language training for outgoing employees

Swiss-based employees transferring to a foreign country are better armed for their new venture when they have a grounding in the host country's culture and language. Auris Relocation can provide appropriate support, tailored exclusively to the individual needs of the employer and the employee.

Move management

The final phase of a departure requires persistence and attention to detail, something we excel in. Auris Relocation has vast experience in obtaining and comparing quotes from removal companies, where our neutrality guarantees the very best deal for transferees. We also manage the logistics and supervise the on-site events when a transferee moves from Switzerland. As the primary point of contact, Auris takes responsibility for communicating regularly on the status of each move.
